Three Monroe High School Boys Die, Seven Injured; Sparks Hit Gas Tank

MONROE CITY, Mo., Jan. 22.—(P)—Three Monroe City high school boys burned to death and six other students and their instructor were hurt today in an explosion and fire which wrecked the vocational agriculture building, a separate one-story frame building on the school grounds.

The dead, all seriously burned, were identified as Don McElroy, of Rensselaer, and Edward Cannon and Norman Noble Engle, both of Monroe City.

Of the seven injured and rushed to hospitals at Hannibal, 20 miles east of here, only the instructor, Roy Luister, who was badly burned, was identified immediately.

Six youths and Roy Luister, vocational agriculture instructor, were rushed to hospitals at Hannibal, 20 miles east of here.

Luister suffered burns on his face, arms and hands. Two of the youths, Milton Hendrix and Marty Redman, were in critical condition.

Sparks Strike Gas Tank

The other injured students are Juan Don Corder, Albert Lee Ely, Charles Burditt and Walton Carroll.

Police Chief Tom Spalding said he was told that the boys were welding and that sparks struck the gas tank of a gasoline engine nearby. He said Luister had been sharpening a lawnmower at the time of the explosion and did not know the cause.

Measure on Coal Strikes

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 22.—(P)—Sen. H. R. Williams (R) of Cassville introduced a bill today which, he said, would make the state independent in case of another coal strike.

He proposed that all state heating units be equipped for alternate use of powdered coal, fuel oil or gas so the plants could be switched to a new fuel system within three hours.

"One man did something to this country Japan or Germany was never able to do," Williams said in referring to a nationwide coal strike earlier this winter which threatened fuel supplies of state institutions. "Whenever one person can tell your children and grandchildren they can't light up their Christmas trees, we're at a very low ebb."

Pickets Back At Shoe Plant

Picketing was resumed at the Thomasetti Shoe Factory, Second street and Osage avenue at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by the local union of the Boot and Shoe Workers, A. F. of L., after union officials and management failed to come to an agreement in a meeting this morning.

Originally it had been indicated that progress had been made toward an understanding when it was announced yesterday that another meeting would be held this morning for further details concerning resumption of operations at the factory if an agreement could be reached. However, the negotiations came abruptly to a stalemate, with no further sessions in sight for the time being.

Blackout

VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 22.—(P)—The Vancouver housing authority has declared its tenants can buy coal or sit in the dark. Originally, the war-built housing projects furnished coal for heating. But last year the authority decided tenants should buy their own coal.

Electricity, however, is included in the rent, and the houses have no meters. So many tenants, officials said, simply stopped using coal, bought electric heaters and let them run constantly.

The power load got so heavy three transformers burned out last week. So from now on stations will use smaller fuses, and if tenants use too much electricity they'll be left in darkness.

Collision With Gasoline Truck Near Dallas, Tex.

DALLAS, Jan. 22.—(P)—C. A. Christensen, Dallas tire dealer, and Mrs. Camille Powers of Sedalia, Mo., were killed today in the collision of their car with a gasoline truck on a highway near suburban Garland.

Mrs. Powers, Christensen's cousin, was visiting here.

Deputy Sheriff W. B. Bass and B. G. Phillips reported the car was driven by Mr. Christensen, and headed south toward Dallas, on Highway 67, collided with a heavy truck. The officers said the impact knocked the truck backward 14 feet from the point of the collision.

The light coupe of Christensen was demolished.

Both Christensen and Mrs. Powers were dead when deputies arrived.

John Ralph Garner, Clarksville, Texas, was the driver of the truck and suffered only minor bruises.

Christensen was a colonel in the Army Air Forces in World War II.

Mrs. Powers, her husband, Arthur R. Powers, and their three-year-old daughter, Sandra, of 1201 West Sixteenth street, went to Dallas Sunday to visit the Christensen family.

Mr. Powers is owner and manager of the Dr. Pepper Bottling Company, on South Limit avenue. According to word received by friends in Sedalia Mr. and Mrs. Powers were with relatives in Dallas for dinner Tuesday evening. Mr. Powers went back to a hotel intending to return to Sedalia while Mr. Christensen was taking Mrs. Powers to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Williams, who reside at 807 North Dallas, Ennis, Texas. Their little girl, Sedalia's belief, had been left with the grandparents for the evening.

Mrs. Powers leaves, besides her husband and daughter, her parents, mentioned above, one sister, Mrs. Charles Ely, San Antonio, Texas, and one brother, Earl Williams, of Dallas.

She was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Sedalia.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Saffern and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Weinert.

Every Cloud Has a Silver Lining, Sedalia Family Learns

Cookie, the five months old Cocker Spaniel belonging to Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Netherton, 407 South Park avenue, decided Sunday would be a nice day for an adventure so he wandered off to see what the rest of the world looked like.

Mrs. Netherton went to the door and whistled, but no Cookie. She went out in the yard and whistled. She searched over the neighborhood and finally over her part of town, but she could not find Cookie. Then Mr. Netherton started looking. He got in the car and drove around. As he drove down West Broadway he saw a little dead dog close to the curb in the nine-ninth block. He left his car to investigate and sure enough it was a little blonde Cocker Spaniel. Mr. Netherton picked it up carefully and took it home. He placed it in a box

Audit Showing Shortage Given Justice Dept.

Report Shows Over Three Thousand In Overdrafts

By Alex H. Singleton
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—Attorney General Tom Clark today turned over to the Justice Department's criminal and claims division an audit showing a $125,563.73 shortage in the congressional "bank."

The department, in announcing Clark's action, said only that the division would study the findings. The deficit was uncovered by an official audit of the accounts of Kenneth Romney, former sergeant at arms. The findings were sent to Clark by Speaker Martin (R-Mass.), "for possible recovery and whatever action he deems necessary."

The results of the audit left the house lawmakers, who use the sergeant at arms office as a bank, facing the prospect of digging into their own pockets to make up at least part of the shortage.

Accounting
The report submitted by Comptroller Lindsay C. Warren and made public by Martin gave this accounting of the missing money:

$22,965 in checks issued by Romney and payable to "cash," but never banked.

(Although the checks were not sent to the banks for collection, they were carried as cash on hand, the audit said. Whether they could have been collected if they had been sent to the bank, the audit did not say.)

$8,000 in checks signed by H. A. McKenzie, a former employee of the sergeant at arms office, one for $7,500 not banked and one for $500 cashed by the Huntington National Bank, Columbus, Ohio, and drawn on the sergeant-at-arms.

Some Overdrafts
$64,573.12 in checks of J. H. Smithwick, a former member of congress.

Congressional biographies list John Harris Smithwick as a Democrat who served in the house from Florida from 1919 to 1927, and who was in the real estate business in Fort Myers, Fla., and Washington, D. C.

$1,376.62 in orders on the sergeant at arms by Champ Pickens, identified in the report only as "promoter." Some of these orders were signed by Pickens and endorsed by John Foscue, secretary to former Representative McDuffy, who was not further identified.

A receipt for $25,066.48, dated Nov. 14, 1938, and signed by Frank J. Mahoney, former bookkeeper for the sergeant at arms, reading: "I, Frank J. Mahoney, have taken from the sergeant at arms office the amount of $25,066.48."

The balance of the shortage — $3,582.51 — was made up of overdrafts of present members of the house. Martin said these will be made good.

Killed in Jump From a Truck

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 22.—(P)—Harold Starr, 26, driver for company, Kas, truck company, was killed yesterday in a truck accident on U. S. Highway 71 north of Kansas City.

Starr, employed by the company Monday, was steering a stalled truck as it was being towed back to Atchison by another truck. The tow chain was believed to have wrapped itself around a wheel of the truck being towed, forcing it off the road. Starr was killed when he attempted to jump to safety as the truck began to overturn.

Survivors include his widow, a year-old daughter, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilfred Starr, Nevada, Mo.

Present Third Bonus Plan

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 22.—(P)—A third veterans' bonus proposal hit the Missouri general assembly today.

Rep. C. P. Turley (D) of Carter county introduced a bill to levy a special two percent tax on all property in the state, including intangible property, to provide a bonus for the World War II veterans.

He would leave the size and nature of the benefit payments to future legislation.

Property owned by veterans or used for charitable and religious purposes and homestead property up to $1,000 would be exempt from the special levy.

An earlier proposal suggested veterans be allowed a property tax exemption of up to $500, and one offered in the senate yesterday proposed a bonus for the issuance of $100,000,000 in bonds to finance a maximum bonus of $450.

Three Couples Injured in Car Accident

Car Leaves Road Between Highway 50 And Pilot Grove

Three Sedalia couples were injured in an accident on the farm-to-market road between highway 50 and Pilot Grove, Mo., two miles north of Clifton City, about 12:30 o'clock this morning. The party was returning from Pilot Grove where they attended a dance and in making a turn which approaches the Lamine River bridge, the car struck some loose gravel, left the road, rolled over and crashed into a tree.

John Cote, 523 East Thirtieth street is suffering a severe back injury.

Miss Kathryn Turner, 633 East Thirtieth street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Turner, received a bruised back, cut on the right knee and other bruises.

Injuries Received
Mr. and Mrs. Don Weller, 415 West Fifth street, Mr. Weller received bruised shoulders, injury to his shoulder blade, and an abrasion on the back of his head.

Mrs. Weller had a shoulder injury, bruised right hip and a bruise on the back of her head.

Miss Earlene Paxton, 710 West Second street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Paxton, received a fractured right collar bone, bruises on her hands, arms and legs.

The car a 1939 Dodge sedan, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dick, 615 West Fifth street and was driven by their son William Dick. He received slight bruises.

Coming Toward Sedalia
According to the occupants of the car they were headed back toward Sedalia, and Dick was rather unfamiliar with the road. As he struck loose gravel and began sliding, slipped from the road and caused the car to roll over on its top, striking the tree. The tree saved the car from plunging down the river bank into the water.

The automobile was practically demolished.

Dr. D. P. Dyer treated all of the patients except Miss Paxton, who was treated by Dr. F. B. Long.

X-ray pictures are being taken to determine the extent of their injuries.

Students Want More Heat

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 22.—(P)—A group of 100 chilled student veterans marched on the University of Missouri administration building here last night, bearing an effigy of the school's housing director, A. C. Stotler, which they intended to hand in protesting against heating facilities in their emergency quarters.

Caretakers persuaded the band of ex-G-I's to abandon their project, and University officials promised that today there would be two stoves installed in each of their temporary houses.

V. L. Spurling, University business manager, explained that a shortage of propane gas resulted in poor heating. He said the gas stoves were being replaced by either coal or oil stoves, but the replacement had not been completed in time to meet yesterday's temperature drop.

By the Associated Press
A cold wave that has kept the Midwest shivering for the last two days chilled the east and parts of the south today.

The mass of frigid air which hit the Midwest Monday sending temperatures to as low as 24 below zero in Minnesota covered the eastern half of the nation and touched into the southeast all the way to the gulf.

While the mercury in northeastern Minnesota was 24 below again today federal forecasters promised a moderation in temperatures in the north central region today and tomorrow.

In the east and parts of the south where springlike weather prevailed Monday temperatures dropped to below freezing, a fall of nearly 40 degrees in some cities. The mercury slid to 21 at Atlanta and to 18 at Nashville, Tenn., and in Jacksonville, Fla., it was only a few degrees above freezing.

Early morning readings in New York and Washington were 14 above.

Car Runs Into Tree, Woman Badly Injured

Accident Occurred On Corner Prospect Ave. and Broadway

Mrs. Harry Lutjen, R.F.D. No. 3, Sedalia, was seriously injured about 10 o'clock this morning, when the 1942 Chevrolet coupe which she was driving, crashed head-on into a tree at Prospect avenue and Broadway, in front of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Salisbury.

Mrs. Lutjen, at the hospital, told her husband that something appeared to have gone wrong with the car and she lost control of the machine. Mr. Lutjen related this to a Democrat reporter.

The car was headed east on Broadway. The wheel struck the curb west of Prospect avenue, went straight forward across Prospect avenue, jumped the curb and crashed into a tree.

Motor Knocked Back
The motor of the car was knocked back and pushed the floor boards up nearly six inches, the drive shaft was snapped, the front of the car caved in, the steering wheel was broken off, and the frame badly sprung.

Mrs. Lutjen suffered a severe circular gash over the left eye down her nose and under the eye. She also has a dislocation of the right hip and numerous bruises.

She was rushed to the hospital in the Ewing ambulance and Dr. D. R. Edwards attended her.

Mrs. Lutjen and her husband recently moved to the Howard Roberts farm west of Sedalia.

The will also provided that "I shall give, devise and bequeath to any person contesting the terms of this will for any cause whatsoever, the sum of $5."

Kidnaped Girl Back Home, Is Unharmed

Man Who Tried to Collect Ransom Frightened Away

By Richard Cushing

LODI, Calif., Jan. 21.—(P)—Kidnaped Alice Dean Devine, popular and pretty 17 year old Lodi high school student, was back home and unharmed today after the most harrowing 26 hours of her life. Police authorities hunted over the entire west coast for a man who tried to collect $10,000 in ransom and gave up in flight.

The 165-pound girl athlete broke out of her bonds in a high-way motel near Sacramento yesterday afternoon while the kidnaper was expected but failed to her location to relatives in Sacramento.

State police broadcast an all-points alarm for the arrest of a man they said had used the names of Everett Wescott, Stiles of Portland, Ore., and William (Bill) Giles, identifying himself as an agent for an eastern publishing house.

Alice Dean was held under police guard until last night when she and her father were stationed across the street from a Sacramento bar in a futile effort to capture her abductor. The kidnaper was expected but failed to appear at the bar to collect the ransom.

Waited an Hour
The father, John Edward Devine, wealthy Lodi grape grower and vice president of the American Fruit Growers association, had been told in a note the night before to be at the bar at eight o'clock last night with $10,000 in $20 and $1,000 bills if he wished to see his daughter again.

After waiting nearly an hour beyond the ransom deadline, police and FBI agents decided the kidnaper had been frightened away by newspaper stories.

The police broadcast said the fugitive was driving a 1937 grey Ford sedan with Oregon license plates.

The broadcast described the wanted man as about 42, 5 feet, 8 inches, 165 to 170 pounds, dark brown hair, blue eyes, sharp features, apparently well educated.

Posed as Writer
Since Saturday the man had posed here as a feature writer in a nation-wide survey of high school life looking for the "typical American girl."

Alice Dean disappeared at 7:30 p. m. Monday after leaving a Lodi photograph studio where she had gone to have her picture taken for the purported features.

Lodi Police Chief Millard L. Fore said when the girl left the studio the kidnaper placed her in an automobile, bound and gagged her after threatening her life with a knife and a revolver and drove her to the motel outside Sacramento.

There she was held, trussed on the bed, while the kidnaper stood watch until about noon yesterday, the chief said. When the abductor left, presumably to receive the ransom, Alice Dean effected her escape.

Phoned Victim's Father
Giving the name of Giles, the man had posed boldly as a feature writer and even arranged with Alice Dean's parents for the pictures. He sent a taxicab to take her to the studio appointment. It was only after the photos were made that his own automobile was in evidence.

Along the route to the motel, he stopped and telephoned the Devine home, advising Devine that contact could be made by looking for a ransom note near a wooded shed in the back yard.

The call was traced to the Sacramento bar where he demanded the ransom be paid.

A STATEMENT BY THE KANSAS CITY STAR

THE KANSAS CITY STAR regrets very much that it has been unable to serve its readers in its territory since Friday morning, January 17.

Without notice or warning, on that date a picket line was thrown around our office at 18th Street and Grand Avenue, Kansas City, Missouri, demanding recognition as a bargaining unit, of a recently formed contract carriers' association. Other mechanical crafts refused to go through this picket line, and necessarily publication ceased.

Primarily, the controversy centers around the contract carriers who deliver the paper. There are 208 contract carriers of The Star in Greater Kansas City. These men own their own routes and have in many instances large investments in them. They buy their papers from The Star wholesale at specified rates. They either deliver these papers themselves or employ assistants or helpers to deliver them. They own their own equipment which they use to transport the papers for delivery. They handle their own collections and operate as independent merchants or contractors, each with an individual contract which defines specifically his relationship to The Star.

The courts have held, including the Missouri Supreme Court, that these contract carriers are independent contractors and not employees. Federal taxing authorities under the Social Security Act have also ruled that they were not employees but independent merchants or contractors.

Several months ago an association of contract carriers was formed in Kansas City called the Newspaper Carrier's Co-operative Association of Greater Kansas City. This group affiliated with, and was granted a charter by, the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America. Later the Association notified The Star it represented a majority of the 208 contract carriers and asked for recognition as a labor organization and as bargaining agents for them. The Star informed the Association that it could not recognize them as bargaining agent for the contract carriers because they were independent contractors, not employees.

On November 22, 1946, the carriers association filed with the regional National Labor Relations Board a petition for investigation and certification of their organization as bargaining agent for the contract carriers. Under the Wagner Act, employees are entitled to collective bargaining when more than 50 per cent have signified their desire to have a bargaining agent represent them. The Labor Board in such situations has two factors to determine: First, that the unit is composed of employees and as such is entitled to come under the Act; and second, that the bargaining agent represents a majority of the employees in the unit. This is the orderly procedure to be followed. The so-called Carriers Association did not press the Board for such a hearing upon its petition to determine whether the unit was composed of employees or whether or not they had a majority.

The Carrier Association made demands upon The Star management that it be recognized outright as speaking for all the carrier group or that The Star agree to a so-called consent election. To do so The Star would have had to break its contracts with the contract carriers—an illegal act, which of course it could not do. The Star management, however, said it would do everything it could to expedite a hearing to determine these questions in an orderly and legal way. Without warning or notice to The Star, without notice to the other mechanical crafts at The Star and without asking the sanction of the central labor union of Kansas City, as is the custom, the carriers association on Friday morning threw a picket line around the building.

The Star has labor contracts with numerous craft unions. With the pressmen, with whom the Carriers Association is affiliated, The Star has a contract which guarantees against any stoppage of work for any cause whatsoever. It has also an International Arbitration Agreement with the parent union of the group (The International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union), which guarantees against any stoppage of work. In spite of this, the pressmen would not go through the picket line of their affiliate carrier group. When the pressmen refused to cross the line, the printers did likewise and the blockage of publication became complete. The Star's management has called upon the International unions to enforce their contracts but the members of the local unions have refused to go through the line.

On Saturday, January 18, the United States Conciliation Service requested The Star management and the representatives of the carrier group to meet with the conciliators to find out the basis of the controversy. At this meeting Charles Bond, special representative of the pressmen's union as well as of the carriers association, said flatly he did not intend to use the Labor Board procedure—a legal method set up for handling such disputes—either for a hearing to determine whether the contract carriers were employees or independent merchants or whether the association in fact represented a majority. He delivered an ultimatum saying "open warfare" would settle the dispute and the carrier group would have to be recognized at once before the picket line would be withdrawn. He said he intended to use force to bring a settlement no matter whether The Star ever published again or not. The Star's management asked the pressmen's union to live up to its valid contracts and continue publication of the paper while all points of dispute were settled in an orderly manner, through the procedure of the National Labor Relations Board. That was the impasse.

It is significant that at the very time these efforts were under way by the conciliation service 112 of the contract carriers in person and nine more by proxy had a meeting of their own. In it they declared vehemently that Mr. Bond and the group who threw the picket line around The Star did not represent them and never had represented them; that he represented only a small minority. They did not want to see their investments and status as independent contractors jeopardized and called upon The Star's management to sustain their long-established relationship as independent contractors against the coercion of the small minority of their group.

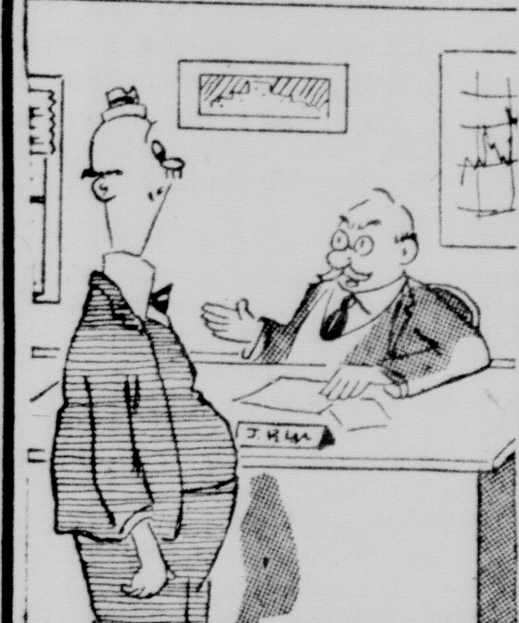

That's why you have not been receiving your Star since the morning edition of January 17.

When infantile paralysis last summer hit the nation the hardest blow in 30 years the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was able to send more than 2,000 nurses, 300 physical therapists and scores of physicians into stricken areas — thanks to funds given to the March of Dimes.

Chapter treasuries became depleted in caring for infantile paralysis victims, but more than $5,000,000 in supplementary funds were sent in promptly from National Headquarters so that no one need go without medical care and treatment.

Your dimes and dollars made all this possible. Polio will strike again but your contributions to the 1947 March of Dimes will enable the nation to strike back — hard!

Stettinius In Address Urges Aid To China

Asserts Strained Friendship Due to 'Disillusionment'

JUNCTION CITY, Kas., Jan. 20. —(P)—Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., former secretary of state Tuesday night scored this country's "vacillating attitudes towards our neighbors in other lands," and declared that mutual disillusionment "has strained the very piers of the bridge" of friendship between China and the U. S.

In a speech that formally opened a national campaign for aid to China, the handsome former United States representative in the United Nations organization referred to American-Chinese friendship as a two-way bridge and stated, "The stress of years of war, bringing forth the emotional extremes of both our peoples, has strained the very piers of this bridge."

Stettinius told the assembly group of distinguished American and Chinese visitors.

"We expect too much from our friends. And perhaps, on the other hand, the Chinese themselves have some cause to be disillusioned about us at the same time."

"Our own isolationist attitude towards our neighbors in other lands, do not make us ideal friends."

Continuing more cheerfully, the white-haired Stettinius said that truth, which "alone can strengthen the under-pinnings of that bridge of friendship" is beginning to emerge from the confusion.

"The truth about current conditions on the other side of our bridge, as reported by General George C. Marshall, has already brought forth expressions of confidence and optimism among the liberal leaders of both our countries."

Stettinius spoke following the premiere showing of a motion picture "Bridge of Yinshi," which depicted the life of Junction City residents in comparison to that of the people of Yinshi, China. Junction City and Yinshi, both about 10,000 population, were considered "typical American and Chinese towns."

Recalling that foundations of the "Bridge to Yinshi" were laid and dedicated to friendship over one hundred years ago, Stettinius fort, millions of dollars and lives of service.

"But now that bridge is weakened. x x x x"

"In China's ten year war against the invader well meaning propagandists praised the Chinese to such an extent that we are shocked to discover that they—like most other folks—are not perfect in all things. They have their political differences, one with another; their views on isolation against one world are divided just as among our own people."

"Being American, we consequently are often impatient with the Chinese, as we are with peoples of other nations. We would do well to remember that the Chinese are picking up the shreds of life from a war in which practically all centers of culture and learning x x x were destroyed or taken over by the enemy."

Stettinius concluded on a hopeful note: "It is singularly significant that at the very moment when a national regeneration of a

Four New Baseball Immortals

Hubbell, Grove
Frisch, Cochrane
Join 49 Others in Hall of Fame

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Four baseball greats, pitchers Carl Hubbell and Robert (Lefty) Grove, infielder Frankie Frisch and catcher Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane today joined 49 other immortals of the diamond in the national pastime's Hall of Fame.

The quartet was elected to the Cooperstown, N. Y., shrine by the baseball writers of America in a poll completed Jan. 15.

It was the first time since 1942, when Rogers Hornsby, who led the National league in batting in seven different seasons, was named that any player received 75 per cent of the voters required for election.

The election, results of which were announced last night, was the first under the new rules which restricted the balloting to writers of at least ten years' membership in the association and which also confined the field to players of the era since 1912. No player active in organized baseball on the field in 1946 was eligible.

Hubbell, famous "meal ticket" of the New York Giants, who won 253 games during his momentous career, drew 140 of the 161 votes cast to head the list.

Frisch, the "Fordham Flash" of the Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, was second with 136 votes.

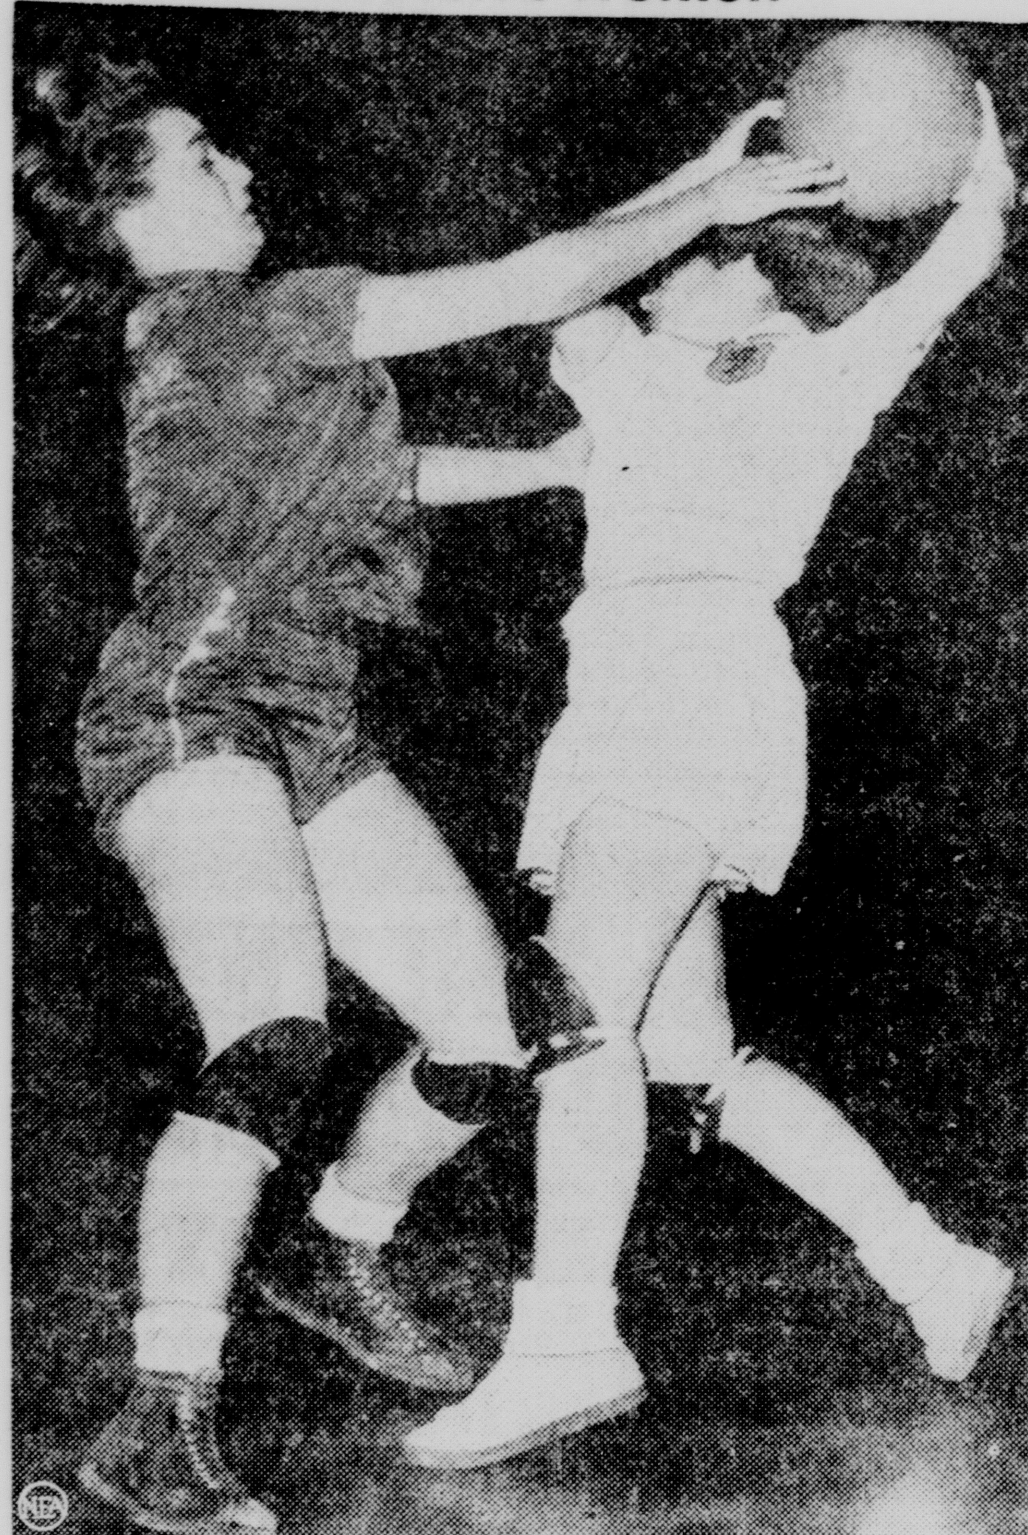

Trailing Frisch with 128 votes was Cochrane, one-time catching great of the Philadelphia Athletics and the Detroit Tigers.

Grove, Cochrane's one time battery mate on the Athletics, followed with 123 votes. The former southpaw speedball ace who closes out his career with the Boston Red Sox, won 300 games during his stay in the major leagues.

Others who received votes included Pie Traynor, 119 votes; Charlie Gehringer, 105; Rabbit Maranville, 91; Dizzy Dean, 88; Herb Pennock, 86; Chief Bender, 72; Harry Heilmann, 65; Ray Schalk, 50; Dazzy Vance, 50; Frank (Homerun) Baker, 49; Bill Terry, 46; Zach Wheat, 37; Ross Youngs, 36; Smokey Joe Wood, 29; Ed Roush, 25; Babe Adams, 22; Rube Marquard, 18; Jimmy Foxx, 10.

Swedish Angel Is Beaten By Champ Becker

Ray Schwarz Pulls Freak Drop Kick To Beat Lou Newman

George Becker, Oakland, California, proved out to be just what he is, "a little champion" and defeated the Swedish Angel, two falls. In spite of the fact the Angel was disqualified in the third fall, Becker was showing his style all through the period and would probably have defeated the Angel anyway.

Ray Schwarz, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Lou Newman, Los Angeles, put on a thrill match with Schwarz flying the two winning falls from Newman. They came out to wrestle it out and gave an excellent account for themselves, much to the satisfaction of the fans.

Commission Takes A Hand

The special event, drew action from the commission, when Jim Parker, St. Joseph and "Bad Boy" Brown, Polo, failed to come through and displeasure was displayed by the local fans. It all happened after Brown had Parker on the mat and Referee Harry Cohen gave the match to Brown, using a reverse toe hold, but at the same time making use of the ropes, which Cohen failed to see.

Both wrestlers were ordered to return to the ring and finish it out, much to the "displeasure" and "squawk" from the two. However, they went back and the next twelve minutes was a rough and tumble affair with Parker winning, using a body smother. It took 12 minutes and 40 seconds in the final fall, while Brown's time was 11 minutes and 20 seconds, or an overall time of 23 minutes.

Schwarz-Newman The Best

Schwarz and Newman's match kept the fans on edge. Schwarz, using flying tactics won the first fall in 10 minutes and five seconds, while Newman took the next in eight minutes and seven seconds using body slams. Something that's never been seen in the local ring before occurred in the third period when Schwarz standing outside the ropes, grabbed the top rope, pulled himself up and while in the air dropped kicked Newman to win the fall in five minutes and 40 seconds.

Schwarz after the match said it was the second time in his career that he had been able to perform such a feat.

The Angel using his famous neck twist beat Becker the first fall in 11 minutes and 24 seconds. Becker came back in the second fall period and using a series of flying drop kicks beat the Angel in one minute and 35 seconds.

Becker was tangled in the ropes during the third fall period and after Cohen had warned the Angel to get back and was then thrown to the mat by the huge wrestler, Cohen rushed in and called to ringsiders to help free Becker and awarded the match to Becker by disqualifying the Angel, the time being seven minutes and 13 seconds.

Movie Star Coming

"Wee Willie" Davis, of Canoga Park, Calif., who has appeared in numerous motion pictures is coming next week to meet Ray Schwarz in the feature event of the wrestling card. Davis is six feet two inches tall and built like a giant.

NALC Bills Introduced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Four bills, designed to benefit rural mail carriers, have been introduced by Rep. William Cole (R-Mo.).

Endorsed by the National Association of Letter Carriers, they would:

1. Increase equipment maintenance compensation of rural mail carriers from six cents a mile a day to eight cents. The increase is warranted, Cole told a reporter, because of the higher cost of repairs and equipment.

2. Make substitute rural carriers "classified" employees in post offices so that in event of a vacancy they may be promoted to better positions. At present, Cole said, they are merely "hired help" with any classification and may be hired or dismissed at any time.

3. Authorize payment of $1 an hour in travel pay for short, heavy rural routes in metropolitan areas for use of automobiles and other equipment in lieu of six cents a mile maintenance pay. The six cents a mile does not compensate some of the carriers on this type of route for their expenses, Cole said.

4. Establish by law the right of employees in a local post office to reassignments on the basis of seniority.

Appoint Leroy Luchs Leader Eagle Group

The Eagle Scouts met at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the county court room of the court house with seventeen present.

Leroy Luchs was appointed leader of the Eagle group.

A talk was made by Judge J. V. Kesterson.

Plans were made at the meeting for the part the Eagle Scouts will take in the pot luck supper which will be held on February 10 at Liberty park.

Nash, Legion and The Adcos Win

In the first game of the Community league played at Smith-Cotton high school on Monday evening, the Nash Motors hit the basket from all angles to swamp the Apprentice club by a score of 42 to 11. The Nash Motors scored first and were never behind throughout the game. Five of the Nash players scored three or more field goals, Ream leading the scoring in the pot game with 7 baskets. For the shop team, Herman Logan scored 8 of the team's eleven points.

In the second game the American Legion "Sportsmen" defeated the Sedalia Typists with a final score of 40 to 21, in what was probably the fastest and cleanest game played up to date in the Community league. There were very few actual fouls on either team.

In this game, all of the Sportsmen "regulars" contributed to the scoring with Michaelis scoring 14 points for his team. For the Typers Ettinger, who shoots a left handed hook shot, scored ten points.

In the final game the Adco Chemists defeated Sacred Heart in a free scoring game with a final score of 54 to 44. This total of 98 points sets a record of game scoring up to date.

Sacred Heart, while losing all games to date, played the Adco team a good game until the last quarter. The Adco team was led in scoring by their giant center John Van Dyne, who scored a total of 18 points, getting most of his points through the "spin-shot" method and a few tip-ins. The scoring of the Sacred Heart was almost evenly divided by members of the team.

The last regularly scheduled games will be played next Monday. The following Monday all postponed games will be played. Then for the next three Mondays the teams will be thrown together in one tournament.

"Tigers" Game Tonight
The Smith-Cotton "Tigers" will meet the College High cagers from Warrensburg for a game tonight on the home court at Smith-Cotton high school at 8 o'clock. A "B" team game will be played at 7 o'clock prior to the regular game.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 — It was carefully hushed up at the time, but the political mess in Georgia might have been avoided if the justice department had gone ahead with a secret probe it conducted of the Talmadge election.

Last fall, the justice department had FBI men making a thorough check of Talmadge intimidation and racial discrimination at the polls. This, under recent supreme court rulings, now is the direct concern of the federal government and can be prosecuted as a criminal offense.

The FBI investigation showed that Talmadge had sent instructions to the Georgia primary polls aimed at preventing Negroes from voting. Although the evidence was conclusive, the justice department finally got cold feet. The case was dropped.

One obstacle the justice department ran up against was the fact that Eugene Talmadge was sick and they couldn't get to him for interrogation. Also, son Herman Talmadge outbluffed the justice boys and refused to answer questions unless a stenographer was present.

Final factor, however, was the fear that federal government intervention in Georgia would boomerang, hurting the very same liberal forces the justice department wanted to help.

Marshall's War Leak
One of the most significant things to watch regarding the state department under General Marshall will be whether he continues Jimmie Byrnes' policy of open diplomacy.

No secretary of state since Charles Evans Hughes has been as frank with the press as Byrnes. Hughes handled all press conferences himself, was a master at giving important background information, was generally frank and forthright. Byrnes, while not handling many conferences himself, went further than Hughes in making sure that a competent state department official gave the newsmen a general picture of what was happening inside diplomatic negotiations.

Byrnes also didn't object to most news leaks; felt the American people had the right to know about foreign policy.

However, some of those alleged close to General Marshall say he may tighten up on the Byrnes policy and crack down on news leaks. This, of course, may be unfair to the new secretary of state, for based on his own past record, Marshall has been quite a "leaker" himself. In fact, one cable seized from the files of the German foreign office now reveals that General Marshall was woefully indiscreet in the early stages of the European war and inadvertently let out important secrets to the enemy.

When the American army captured German files in Berlin, one of the most amazing cables they unearthed was sent by Nazi consul general Hans Borchers in New York, May 13, 1941, regarding a dinner table conversation General Marshall had with a high American society woman. The cable read as follows: "Mrs. Herbig told that she sat at a dinner between General Marshall and a member of the government and the possibilities of war in Europe were discussed and both stated that it was definite that Greenland, Iceland, and the Azores should be used as bases for troops in order to facilitate invasion of Norway, northern France, Spain and Portugal. An attempt was being made to select qualified elements for a fifth column to Spain among prisoners and immigrants."

At that very same time, American newspapers were being bitterly condemned when some of them hinted that the United States was planning to use Iceland and the Azores as military bases.

A little later, when Maj. Gen. Henry Miller told a society lady in London about allied plans for the Normandy invasion, he was promptly reduced to the rank of colonel and sent home from England.

Note — Mrs. Herbig is the code name for the Washington society woman who duped General Marshall. However, nothing has ever been done since the war about taking action against her.

"Well, Major," Judge Logan said, "so you've come back, with your company's records, eh?"
"Um, no. The fact is," Major Cameron said, crossing his short legs and speaking as casually as he could, "the fact is, something—umm—unexpected has happened to prevent."

"Yes? What's that?" Judge Logan asked.

"Mr. Milgrim, my partner, seems to have received a wire at noon from Chicago. He drove away in his automobile. He seems to have taken the records with him."

"And the other partner?"

"Mr. Breen. He, too, seems to have gone."

"You don't say! When will they return, Major? They left some word?"

"They left no word. They must have been very rushed, an important summons. I talked with Mr. Milgrim on the telephone at eleven-thirty. I thought he seemed perturbed. He told me to wait in the bar; I did, for an hour, when I telephoned again to his room. The desk clerk said that in the interim Mr. Milgrim and Mr. Breen had checked out. I confess, sir, I don't understand why they failed to look for me in the bar. But—"

"But they skipped!" Mr. Lardner exclaimed.

"I beg your pardon?"

"Skipped! And all they left was the bag for you to hold!"

Major Cameron held no bag; his glance rebuked the prosecutor.

"There is, naturally, some explanation."

"Oh, naturally!" said Mr. Lardner. "You bet there is! Those thieves!"

"Now, Harry," Judge Logan said. "Keep your shirt on. I want you to have Major Cameron's story just as I got it, book, chapter and verse."

"All right, all right," Mr. Lardner subsided, chewing hungrily at his cigar. "But I'm warning him, no sob stuff. People can be only so dumb—or why aren't they in an asylum."

THE Major looked apprehensively at Mr. Lardner. . . . But Judge Logan was urgent and encouraging. The Major sighed and launched into his recital, gaining assurance as he went on, concluding by handing a certificate to Mr. Lardner.

"Each certificate," he said, "represents an investment of fifty dollars."

Mr. Lardner, who had been silent for fifteen minutes, seized the certificate, crumpled it in his fist and laughed harshly. "Bunk!" he exclaimed. "You've got no oil well, never did have. And you know it. You can't kid me."

No oil well? The Major was stunned. "Sir," he said, "the Shenandoah Company—"

"You never had a company, either."

No company? The Major gasped. He got to his feet. "Sir, I am the president of the Shenandoah—"

"Sit down!" roared Mr. Lardner.

The Major sat down again on the chair edge.

"Suppose," Judge Logan said to Mr. Lardner, "you got Milgrim and Breen? What would you do with them, Harry?"

"Not a thing. We haven't got a thing on 'em. Not in this business. They kept their skirts dry and let Cameron wade in. Cameron's the one the grand jury will indict."

"If and when the stock purchasers bring a complaint."

"As they will! How many are there? Hundred and fifty-odd? They'll be a pack of hounds in full cry."

Judge Logan fiddled with his spectacles. "The grand jury will be in session next week—"

"Next week, yes. Major Cameron," added Mr. Lardner unusually, "can pretty well count on standing trial before Christmas."

JUDGE LOGAN drummed his knuckles on the armchair, looking more and more doubtful.

At last he spoke, in a voice of such authority that even Mr. Lardner paused to listen. "Now here's how I see it, Harry; and while I wouldn't— and couldn't— usurp your prerogatives, I think you'll agree with me. The law does not contemplate punishment of an innocent man duped into being cat-paw for more intelligent and unscrupulous men who go scot-free. I've known Major Cameron for twelve years; he has a fine wife, fine children, and he never sold any gold bricks. Look, Harry, the very fact that he came to me with his spurious stock is proof of his innocence."

"Or his nerve," Mr. Lardner said. "Nerve like a brass monkey's."

"Or his fool ignorance."

"It was all ignorance, lack of worldly experience. And that's in his favor now."

Mr. Lardner said he couldn't see how such fatheads got by. But he was a shade less truculent; he seemed to defer to Judge Logan.

"Well, what's your idea?"

"So far, none of the Shenandoah stock buyers is screaming for vengeance—"

"They will be, though. Soon!"

"Yes, I think so; because they're all people of small means who can't afford their losses. But suppose full restitution was made, and nobody preferred charges?"

"Then there'd be no prosecution. You know that, Logan. But—restitution? Giving the money back? How could Cameron do it, if he's cleaned out?"

"That's what I don't know," Judge Logan said. "I'm only hoping he could, on his family's account. . . . What about it, Major?"

"I—I—" He had been silent so long his throat was dry.

"Maybe you have somebody who'd stake you to a loan."

The Major coughed a little. "I have a sister in Philadelphia. She is well-to-do."

It was the only time in forty years he had remembered Laura with anything but displeasure.

The president, Mrs. William McCune, presided at the business meeting.

Roll call was answered by "A convenience I hope to add to my home this year." The 1947 year books were distributed and plans for the new year were discussed.

Mrs. McCune read a letter explaining the book-mobile library for the county.

Nine members voted to take the Red Cross course available to club members. Mrs. William Riecke read the health letter.

Eleven members and six visitors were present. Mrs. T. L. Brown joined the club.

The next meeting will be February 19 at the home of Mrs. William Riecke with Mrs. Paul Shipp as assisting hostess.

Blanks All Taken, Another Supply Is Ordered

The supply of state income tax blanks at the Chamber of Commerce is exhausted, there were so many calls for them Tuesday, but an order has been placed for more, and they are expected to be here in a few days.

Before the white man came to the Americas, the Indians cooked wild and tamed turkey for feasts.

Andy's "Certificate of Service"

Andy Botkin's mighty proud of the first dollar he made. He's got it framed, and hanging beside his license, in the Garden Tavern.

Of course, there's a big difference between that dollar bill, and what Andy paid for the license giving him the right to earn it. Which prompts Willie Wells to say: "It's a heck of a note to have to pay to start a business."

"That's what I thought at first," says Andy. "But actually that piece of paper's my protection. And yours too! It helps keep out undesirables, and it means you've got to maintain decent standards—or answer the local law enforcement agencies and face the loss of your license. What's more, the brewers, in co-operation with the tavern keepers themselves, are backing up all it stands for with their program of self-regulation.

From where I sit, Andy's license is more than a permit to do business. It's a certificate of good behavior, and service to the town.
